

TECHNICAL LAW.

The Pacific Press has the following:

If it happens that a good jury is found that promptly discharges its duty, as in the Goldenson case, then comes a motion for a new trial, based on preposterous assumptions and suspicious affidavits, that may be easily forged to order, by methods known to the shrewd practitioner, and if the motion is denied, then comes an assignment of errors, usually a string of trifling technicalities, mere quiddities of the law. This is bundled into the Supreme Court, for what is the Supreme Court for but to hunt for flaws in the proceedings in the court below? It is not the question of guilt with which they are concerned, but with the jots and titles of the proceeding, and that would be a remarkable Supreme Court that could not, after a microscopical search, find some slight inaccuracy in the rulings of a Superior Judge. It took two years to hang the strangler Wheeler, because the presiding judge had allowed the District Attorney to read a few passages from Brown's Medical Jurisprudence to strengthen his argument. This may be the law according to ancient sheepskin literature, but to the average man it is mere word dawdle and a trifling with justice.

Technical law has caused justice to cut a sorry figure more than once in this State. Recently a decision was made in a land suit in the Eastern part of the State. It was, if we remember rightly, the Benson-Robinson case. When it came to the Supreme Court the appellant lost his case. Why? Because his lawyer was two days behind hand in filing notice of appeal. The merits of the case never came before the Court at all, and a man who had worked like a slave to accumulate a ranch worth $30,000 lost it because his lawyer mistook the date on some legal papers. This may be the cold law, but there is no justice in it. This was a very small technicality but it settled the case. Would it not be better to have the law so to read that the lawyer making such a mistake should be fined $100 and the case come up as usual?

A COWARDLY KILLING.

The killing of a poor unfortunate man in California, under the impression that he was Olsten, the murderer, was a wanton and cowardly piece of work. The evidence shows that three armed men supposing that they were about to capture a murderer, and to secure a reward, tracked the victim to a place in the woods where he had made a clearing.

He was working with an axe. When he saw the gang approaching he struck his axe in the tree, left it and came toward them. The fact that he relinquished his axe, of itself, quite sufficient to show his peaceful intentions, but the three armed men covering him with their weapons, commanded him to throw up his hands. The man probably suspecting robbery, rushed back for his axe grabbed it to defend himself, and was at once shot down.

We do not believe the story told by the men, that he seized the axe and rushed upon them. No sane man is going to rush upon the muzzles of three rifles with an axe. If the story is true that he started toward them first without an axe, why in the name of common sense did they cover him with their rifles? They could easily have captured him open handed, without resort to weapons. They probably shot him down in foolish bravado and excitement and then found that they had killed the wrong man. The law should be invoked to make an example of these impetuous people.

A decree of foreclosure on lands was entered in the Superior Court of Butte county yesterday in favor of A. Montgomery of San Francisco and against Garrett Keppell of Butte county, in the sum of $80,000. The lands are situated in the Western part of the county, near Butte creek.

Senator Stewart is still around the Pan Handle region of Idaho slicing up the country and ground sluicing it politically.
